

Unlocking Oceans of Data

Announcing the 1st MEDIN Codefest

MEDIN partners make a huge volume of data available in a variety of ways. We would like to invite enthusiastic developers to submit ideas for applications using the data, tools and services developed by MEDIN partners and the wider community.

Using open standards and working together, the Codefest will bring together technical expertise to build accessible, innovative and imaginative solutions to data access and visualisation challenges.

The Codefest Event will take place in Spring 2014, but we want to hear your ideas and suggestions now.

We've set up a website so we can gauge interest, get suggestions and develop ideas over the next few months.

To get involved, make a comment or find out more, contact the MEDIN Codefest team here:
